

Inclusive Workplaces? The need to consider women in the workplace

Purpose

This seminar will provide the up-to-date information on women in the workplace, the new Equality Act and why it is still necessary to consider a gender perspective and achieve a gender balance in the workplace. It will enable you to look at your own organisation and working practices to see if there are opportunities, where appropriate, to make direct interventions to address gender balance and develop gender specific programmes.

How you benefit

This seminar will explore what is Gender Equality in the workplace and why we should still consider it necessary to achieve a balance. It will also help you to consider when you need to deliver gender specific services and what your responsibilities are in relation to the Equality Act.

What you learn

- What is Gender Equality and why should we still consider it necessary in our work place
- When do you need to deliver gender specific services
- How to ensure that gender equality issues are mainstreamed throughout policy and service delivery
